THE CLANDESTINE ISSUES.

DEBATE IN THE HOUSE OF DEPUTIES.

THE WHOLE CABINET PRESENT.

SPEECHES OF MINISTER URIBURU AND DEPUTY MANSILLA.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE UNANIMOUS.

Senator del Valle's speech in the Senate on Tuesday burst like a bombshell yesterday among politicians and Bolsa members. The great topic of the day everywhere was the terrific attack on the Government and its supporters. In the Government House it produced a sensation that called for immediate action on the part of the whole Cabinet. The effect on the mind of the public was one of consternation, and what made matters worse was the strange fact that not a voice in the Senate was heard on Tuesday to stem the torrent of eloquence of the Portello Demosthenes, or to refute a single argument in the terrible indictment against the Government for conniving at the issue of illegal, claudestine, or fraudulent paper circulation. The Senate was mute with astonishment and acquiesced in the nomination of a special committee to report on Senator del Valle's motion that a committee of Senators be named with the sole mission of investigating the truth of the clandestine issues and reporting on the matter to the Senate. The behavior of the Senate must have appeared an enigma to the National Executive, as the attitude of the Senators bespoke opposition, and the nomination of a special committee to audit accounts that entailed an open charge against the Cabinet pointed straightway to an impeachment—a procedure that lies only within the attributes of the Lower House, the Senate sitting as Judge after the accusation brought forward by the Deputies. The proceedings of the Senate on Tuesday seemed strange in the extreme—in an unanimous vote the Senators dealt a blow at the President of the Republic.

Great as was the consternation in the Government House, it was merely a shadow compared to the impression made on the Deputies. We think every Deputy in town attended the sitting yesterday and seldom have we seen the legislative benches so crowded. The whole Cabinet, comprising Ministers Zavalia, Alcorta, Uriburu and Lavalle, sat on the Ministerial bench; the galleries were packed at an early hour, and the leading men in social, financial and political circles, put in an appearance. The Vice-President of the Republic sat in the reserved gallery.

The proceedings were opened with the lecture of the following Message and Bill of the Executive, in fact an appeal for vote of confidence, requesting the vote of the House to sanction the apparent irregularity of the Cabinet in the banking crisis of last April, when a coach-and four were driven through the Bank Act of 1887 and $19,200,000 mm of illegal currency was granted to the National Bank and the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres. The following is the Message with the Bill at at foot.

To the Hon. Congress.

The Executive, in accordance with the ideas manifested in the inaugural message to Congress this session, now comes to explain to you the decrees issued in general cabinet council to save the situation in which the National Bank and the Provincial Bank of B. Ayres were placed in March and April last. The Executive hopes that the honorable Congress, impressed with the supreme necessity which urged those decrees, will approve its conduct and sanction the appended bill.

The economic situation of the country which has restricted private credit by spreading distrust in all transactions and business, also affected the two state-banks. Discounts were suspended for these reasons and in consequence of the liquidation in business. The withdrawal of deposits then began and as the amounts which the two banks hold under that heading are always more considerable than their reserves, the two establishments, to avoid a catastrophe, appealed to the National Executive, describing their situation. The Executive, thus appealed to by the Government of the Province of Buenos Aires and by the National Bank, did not hesitate one moment in taking the necessary measures to save the two banks which represent the credit, the capital and the savings of the trade and people of the Republic.

It was a supreme, urgent situation, which admitted of no delay, and which must be solved as the Executive solved it without hesitation, taking on itself the responsibility before Congress and the people.

The methods adopted by the Government do not amount to a violation of the Guaranteed Banks' Law, since there is no question of carrying them out, nor of the cases provided by it. They are exceptional methods and comprise the employment of resources and exceptional means which are outside the law, because they bow to facts and on account of the urgency of the situation which necessitated their use.

The Executive placed its credit at the service of the Banks, authorising the issue of Treasury Bills and carry the amount of them to the Banks. But, discounts were limited on account of the financial position and it was indispensable to take notes from the "Oficina Inspectora" as a loan there being at the time no other course open.

The amount so authorised represented a total of $19,200,000, but the Banks only, received the following amounts: The Provincial Bank 9,200,000 dollars in notes furnished by the "Oficina Inspectora," in addition to the amount of the discount of 800,000 dollars of Treasury Bills; the National Bank 6,400,000 dollars, of which amount it has returned 1,400,000, with which the agreement of April 10th was cancelled, leaving 5,000,000 dollars. The Provincial Bank, on its part, has officially announced that it is about to return 6,200,000 dollars of the amount it received in Bank notes to the "Oficina Inspectora" which will cancel the last arrangement for 7,000,000 dollars.

Therefore, once these steps taken to the extent deemed prudent by the Executive, it will still be necessary to wait for a calm to return in the market; there will only remain 8 million dollars placed in circulation by the decrees issued in critical moments for the dearest and most vital interests of the nation.

The Executive is sincerely desirous of normalizing the state of the currency throughout the country, and this is the first condition of a programme that cannot but inspire confidence and win the approval of Congress.

The measures adopted under the pressure of an extremely grave situation were inspired by the desire to avoid evils even greater and were dictated merely as provisional, their action ceasing as soon and according as circumstances should allow.

This desire of the Government was seconded by the banks, and now that the Executive explains the measures and solicits your approval, it must be borne in mind that the Banks did not make use of the authority granted to its entire extent, and that they have already begun to return the sums received. The Executive declares that, after the execution of the measures alluded to in this message, neither the Executive has authorised the delivery of fresh notes, nor has the Inspection Office delivered any notes overstepping the limits of those measures.

God preserve you,

M. JUAREZ CELMAN
Francisco Uriburu.

Project of Law

Art. 1—The resolutions of the Executive, dated 29th of March and 8th and 10th of April of this present year, by virtue of which the Banks' Inspection Office was authorized to hand, as a loan, and on condition of repayment when convenient, to the National Bank and Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres, the sum of $19,200,000 in notes of National Guaranteed Banks, and the Finance Minister was empowered to discount Treasury Bills in the market and deliver the proceeds to said banks as a loan, are hereby approved.

Art. 2—Let this be communicated.

Uriburu.

Just as the Minister of Finance leaned forward to address the speaker Deputy Mansilla begged leave to Speak, and began one of his most brilliant and incisive speeches. We live, he said, in an atmosphere of imposture and the only weapons that could be wielded under the circumstances were those of truth, naked truth, all the truth. Referring to the debate in the Senate, he asserted that a Senator had lent his powerful voice and rhetoric to the propagation of imposture. In his senatorial eloquence he had classed the Government and its supporters in corruption, as gangrened members of the body politic. He considered that the eloquent Senator amougst his many other privileges had availed of another novel one in Congress—that of lying. (Sensation in the House.) The Senator who thus espoused the cause of public morals to reflect on the character of members of Congress was the politician and member of Government of 1874—certainly he was not the fittest to discourse on morals at large. (Applause.) The eloquent Senator in his torrent of rhetoric through abstract regions had embodied him, as members of Congress in general, in a body of corruption, a gratuitous insult to all: he would challenge the Senator's words and asked his colleagues to do the same, feeling confident that the Senator of Buenos Aires would retract immediately: if he did not, well he might be prepared for a very disagreeable "quart d'heure." There was, he said, a conspiracy against the Government, against Congress, and against the credit of the Nation; the Senator for Buenos Aires was the spokesman of that conspiracy, organised with the view of spreading discontent among the masses, increasing the dangers of the financial situation, and throwing all the blame on the men in power and the majority in Congress. So far had this conspiracy succeeded that to-day he could not walk the streets without remarking on his friend's faces a certain commiseration that he should belong to a band of plunderers. Of his enemies he need not talk, for they considered him and all the men in Congress, well, he did not care to finish the sentence. "Quousque tandem," he exclaimed. We must clear the atmosphere with the truth and nothing but the truth. He moved that the House be constituted into committee to immediately vote the Bill of the Executive and ratify its exceptional measures taken in moments of supreme necessity.

Deputy Mansilla's motion was carried "nem. con."

Minister Uriburu then addressed the House. After a few preliminary remarks on the substance of the exceptional resolutions of the Cabinet Councils of March 29th, and 8th and 10th April, when Dr. Pacheco held the portfolio of finance, he began to describe the critical situation in which the National Bank and Prov. Bank were placed by the sudden and violent aggravation of the crisis in those days. The situation was all the more critical as the banks affected not only represented their own banking interests, but embodied, so to say, the sum total of interests in this market and in the country at large. He cared not to rake up the history of the Provincial Bank, which was not only a financial glory of Buenos Aires, but of the Republic and of the South American continent. Its position in the banking world was unique and it stood as a masterpiece of finance. The National Bank was another great pillar of the State and crowned the sovereignty of the National Government; its action had spread all over the country and the benefit it had conferred was simply incalculable. Both banks were of a superior financial order: they could not be considered as mere banking instruments, for they were intimately linked to the development of the nation. They were levers of progress and so identified with the national existence that they had become factors therein and assumed a far higher role than that of simple banking houses.

Yet a Senator had confessed that he would have preferred to see the ruin of these banks rather than authorize the violation of a law. That same Senator had qualified the resolutions of the Cabinet in March and April as clandestine, as if any Government Act could be clandestine. Such acts might be illegal, unconstitutional, and the constitution provided a penalty for such acts, but they could never be stamped with the infamy of clandestine government. Under the critical circumstances of the moment, when both banks were threatened with ruin, what could the government do? It resorted to the issue of Treasury Bills, but such was the distrust of the market that only $800,000 could be discounted. Meantime, the run on the banks increased; day by day, nay, hour by hour, the danger grew greater and the situation became untenable. The only resource was an appeal to the Banking Board of the Inspeccion de Bancos: the only means of salvation lay in the notes in deposit in the hands of the Board, and these notes were withdrawn from the vaults to save the situation. Was that a crime? If so, the Government are willing to undertake all the responsibility of the act.

The Minister then referred to the never-to-be-forgotten Black Friday in London and the suspension of the Banking Act. Just as the suspension of that Act saved the London market, just so the supply of notes from the Board of Guaranteed Banks saved a terrible situation here: the effects were immediate, the gold premium fell headlong, and affairs improved. In making the advances, say 19 millions, to the two State Banks, the Government had received ample guarantees and he could say with conviction that the loan of these notes was better guaranteed than the notes actually in circulation under the Free Banking Act.

Had these advances not been made both banks would have been obliged to close their doors and wholesale ruin would have followed, for the fortunes of the republic were bound up in those of the two banks! The calamity would have been terrible and to-day the republic would be bankrupt. The Government had to choose between general ruin or the violation of a law. In the eyes of an Argentine there could be only one course, and that was the one adopted by the Government.

The Minister also quoted the run on the Provincial Bank in the days of Velez Sarsfield. The streets were crowded with depositors and the reserves of the Bank were exhausted. The directors could not save the situation and they appealed to Velez Sarsfield, who coolly called for the keys and unlocked a safe full of paper money. Directors protested, as a law forbade the circulation of these notes. The great lawyer told them it was no longer a question of legislation, it was a question of salvation or ruin to the Bank; the notes were issued, the situation was saved, and four days later the amount was replaced in the bank's coffers. There we see a precedent on which the Government now could fall back. Had the directors abided by the law, would the Provincial Bank be the colossus of to day? Certainly not.

Such acts could be only justified by a combination of certain critical circumstances. They were of rare occurrence happily, and they must necessarily be always questionable. "Force Majeure" only can excuse them. Four weeks ago, the government had determined to send to Congress a full account of all these doings, but it was impossible to draw up a detailed schedule of the position of affairs: inspectors had been sent to all parts to audit the accounts of the free banks; owing to the great distances and other causes, that work proceeded slowly, but he expected before the middle of the month to present to Congress an exhaustive statement of the position of all the banks and of the circulation. Meanwhile, the Executive and the two great State Banks had days ago organized a plan whereby they combined all their respective elements, including ten millions of the Treasury, to pay back to the Board of Guaranteed Banks the 19 millions borrowed in critical moments. The plan had worked admirably: of the 19 millions to-day only eight millions remained to be cancelled. This success was expected to be complete before Saturday, and the Executive awaited it to present to Congress and the country a statement of the extraordinary resolutions of March and April; for the Government thought that the bad impression that these resolutions might cause would be removed when all knew that the amount borrowed had been repaid, that the evil was mended. In the midst of such hopeful expectations, the speech of the Senator for Buenos Aires in the Senate bursts like a bombshell, sows alarm, and places fresh difficulties in the way of the Government, not to mention the terrible injury to the credit of the nation, as exaggerated accounts of all these financial miseries have been telegraphed to Europe, spread distrust and injure negotiations at present going on. A little more patriotism would have avoided all this.

The Minister then quoted extracts from Senator Del Valle's firebrand speech and his classification of clandestine issues. Minister Uriburu thought he had sufficiently explained the issues authorised in special resolutions. With regard to the existence of so-called clandestine notes of the banks of the Interior he could merely promise the House a detailed statement before long, and he begged to assure Congress and the country that no matter who the culprits they would feel the full force of the law. Passing to the third category of new issues, such as "vales" of the Catamarca Bank, he said that the public was well aware of the documents issued and the steps taken to stop any such attempt. A special inspector had been sent to Catamarca for the purpose.

Then taking up the most effective part of Senator del Valle's speech he made mince-meat of all his false arguments on an assumption that the Free Bank Board had, not three days ago, granted 4½ millions more paper to the National Bank to meet pressing requirements of internal management. This, Minister Uriburu stated, was not true. That amount of money had been handed to the National Bank in exchange for an equal amount of notes of the several banks up country. It was a normal operation above the suspicions excited in the Senator's mind. The Minister took some time to explain to the House the nature of this operation. This was what Senator Del Valle qualified as a clandestine issue!

After refuting all the arguments of the Senator for Buenos Aires, the Minister in a quiet manner indulged in some explanations as to his position in the Government, and, in very loud tones, he stated that he was not prompted by pride or ambition when he entered the Cabinet; when taking the portfolio of finance he thought that he could do some good for his country; and, he emphasized, I shall leave the Cabinet the day that the march of affairs is no longer consistent with my dignity and honesty of purpose; I have assumed great responsibilities; I know their weight, and it is my duty to tell the country the truth. (Great applause). If we mistake not the latter part of the Minister's speech was a hint to foes who attacked and to friends who criticised his frankness in the Senate the other day.

Deputies Larsen and Centano and several others followed with speeches to the point, and finally an amendment of no material importance was introduced. Put to the vote, the bill was passed unanimously, viz.:—

Art. 1—Hereby the resolutions of the Cabinet Councils of 29th March, 8th and 10th April, in regard to loans granted to the National Bank and the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres, are approved.

Art 2—Let this be communicated.

The House broke up at five o'clock.

Senator Del Valle, we hear, will answer the Minister in the Senate on Saturday.

THE CLANDESTINE ISSUES.

MR. MARCOS AVELLANEDA'S LETTER

The uneasiness caused by Minister Uriburu's recent declarations in regard to the clandestine issues and by Senator del Valle's speech on the same subject, has been by no means diminished by Mr Marcos Avellaneda's letter published yesterday. As this gentleman was president of the Guaranteed Banks' Inspection Office and resigned precisely in consequence of some question about the free banks, his letter is of considerable importance at this moment. We summarize it as follows:—

In his recent speech in Congress Mr. Uriburu, the Finance Minister, stated that he could not obtain any data about the clandestine issues, as the books of the Inspection Office were not in order. The gentlemen in charge of the office, he said, were to blame. This I consider to be a serious charge, and coming, as it does, from a personage so highly placed, I cannot allow it to pass unanswered. I have publicly declared that when I resigned the presidency of the Office the books were up to date, that they were well kept, and that consequently from them the most detailed information could be obtained. I also declared that during the two months I was president of the Office, all data applied for by the Government were immediately supplied. A few days after my appointment I called the accountant and requested him to draw up a complete statement of the issues, giving the amount in circulation before and after the Free Banking Act, as well as the amounts burned. From this statement, at a glance, an idea could be formed of the movement of the currency and the position of each of the incorporated banks.

While I was in office, all the old banks of issue were inspected (Salto, Tucuman, Cordoba, Santa Fe and Entre-Rios) and orders were given to inspect the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres. The only old bank of issue that was not inspected was the National Bank for reasons the Finance Minister is no doubt acquainted with. I had previously ordered a statement to be made out of notes received from England, of the notes ordered, and of the series and amounts of the notes. I had also the contents of the safe examined and placed in order, separating the notes corresponding to the respective banks, and I arranged everything, in fact, so that a balance could be struck at a moment's notice.

I do not deem it necessary to enumerate all I did. I think I have said enough to shew that in the Inspection office the Minister could have found all data respecting the issues authorized or in circulation.

I may state that when I entered the Inspection Office, I found that only a day-book was kept, whereas according to law two books should have been kept. I called the accountant, a hard working, intelligent gentleman, who informed me that he had not been long in the Office and since he entered he had endeavored to introduce some order in the day book, which was finally up to date and only required to be copied. All he needed, he informed me, was a table of the numbers of the notes delivered to each bank. I asked the cashier to make out this table. But owing to ill-health, he could not do so immediately. He began the work, however, but he told me one day when I asked for the table, that he found it impossible to finish it, owing to the insuperable difficulties accruing from the following circumstance: Before I was appointed President of the office the Finance Minister had ordered 3-millions to be handed to a bank in anticipaton of the notes it should withdraw from circulation. The delivery was duly made and, as the law prescribes, the numbers and series were registered. A few days afterwards the bank returned 3 millions but in different notes. The confusion thus caused was an insuperable difficulty in the way of making out the table. I ordered a side note to be made in the books, thus carrying out the spirit of the law.

The two books, which the law prescribes to be kept, and which did not exist are: (1) a book recording the constitution of each incorporated Bank and (2) a book containing the monthly balances of the banks. I asked why these book were not kept and was informed that the first had been opened but having been found useless had been set aside. The same reason was given for not keeping the second. I ordered the books to be reopened. The first, I think, must be finished by this. As to the second, when I left the Office, the balances from January were being copied, and, I dare say, it is up to-date, if the Office have succeeded in obtaining the balance-sheets of the Cordoba and National Banks, which I could not do, in spite of all my efforts to obtain them, and notwithstanding that I wrote to the Finance Minister on the subject. I can assure the Minister that while I was president the prescriptions of the law were respected, because not only was it my duty to do so, but because I am convinced that all the evils from which we are suffering are traceable to a want of respect for our laws. If our institutions, however powerful, if people however high-placed, knew that the laws were inexorably complied with, it is certain that the banks which by law were obliged to convert their notes at sight and to bearer, would not have lent exaggerated sums to rulers and private parties. They would have steered to avoid the scandal of "corzo forzoso," decreed in the midst of peace at home and abroad, in the midst of a growing prosperity and of a surprising material progress. The United States did not adopt so extreme a measure until driven to defend their independence, their national existence. If, on forced currency being decreed, the banks had believed that they would be compelled to obey the law which enforced conversion at the end of two years, instead of endeavoring by every means to increase the inconvertible issue in order to hand it over to unbridled speculation, they would on the contrary have tried to improve their situation and by degrees withdrawn part of the omission in order to prepare for conversion. We should not have to-day the prospect of interminable forced currency. If the laws had been obeyed, the gold received as guarantee for the issues would not have been disposed of, at least without burning the notes received in exchange. We should not have had, on the top of "curso forzoso," an increase of inconvertible notes without the only recognized guarantee—gold. If there were respect for the laws, a minister would not have to allude in Congress to clandestine issues, nor to fraudulent emissions.

Railway Items.

Dr. Araoz, chairman of the National Railway Board, has written to the Minister requesting him not to consider the application of the Central Cordoba Railway for payment of guarantee, unless the Company comply with the second clause of the decree of February 9 1888. The guarantee which the Company desire to be paid, corresponds to the half-year ended March 31 ult., and amounts to $62,500 gold.

Messrs. John G. Meiggs Son & Co. have applied to Government for reimbursement of $100,000 in cedulas deposited by them in guarantee of good faith, when they took over Messrs. Artayeta Castex and Co.'s concession for a railway from 9 de Julio to San Rafael in Mendoza.

The Argentine Great Western have refused to recognise the interventor appointed by Dr. Araoz for that line. The East Argentine, as our readers are already aware, has assumed the same attitude. The Minister of the Interior is at present considering the question and will give his opinion next week. The Companies appear to have strong reasons for not recognising the new interventors, who, by the way, expect to obtain 500 dollars per month for their services, and these salaries, according to the law, must be paid by the Companies. It is difficult for the moment to say what the ultimate issue of the dispute will be.

The E. P. has determined to change for economic motives the stations to be built on the railway from Dean Funes to Chilecito from 2nd and 3rd class to 4th class; Also to suppress the Hotel for passengers, to be built at Semesuelez Station.

We clip the following items from the Rio News:

"The Sao Paulo tramway lines (Carris de ferro de S. Paulo) were sold to a syndicate on the 25th ultimo for $2,132,000 or at the rate of $164 per share. The Banco Provincial de S. Paulo acted for the purchasers. A deposit of $400,000 is made to secure the execution of the documents within sixty days.

"The Gazeta de Noticias mentions a rumor that the contract for the extension of the Sao Francisco railway (government) to Cardaru had been cancelled and the contractors ordered to pay into the treasury about $380,000. Another report, given by the same authority, is that the San Francisco line would be extended to Quipapa.

"Positive orders have been given Sr. Francisco Bicalho, the chief engineer, to at once complete the final surveys and commence work on the extension of the Central of Brazil railway from Ourn Preto to Itabira. Sr. Bicalho seems to have considered that railway building, and the supplying of water to the city of Rio, could be deferred at his convenience."

A local journal gives the revenue of the Juiz de Fora and Piau, Minas Geraes, railway, with 61 kilometres under traffic, at 58,826$147 in 1887, which had increased to 101,518$677 in 1888 and to 137,445$438 in 1889, but forgets to give the working expenses. For the same years the railway collected revenues from the state government 59,211$500 in 1887; 68,351$302 in 1888 and 90,265,$116 in 1889.

THE POLITEAMA.

LA FEMME A PAPA.

On Tuesday evening the Coquelin company produced the well-known Vaudeville "La femme a Papa," this amusing piece being played for the first time in Buenos Aires. It is full of wit and comical situations, scarcely the kind of play to which a Girton graduate would care to take her grandmother. Nevertheless, the piece caused endless laughter and amusement, at least in the second and third acts, the first going rather frigidly; it may fairly be reckoned as one of the successes of the season.

Our dictionary of superlatives has already been exhausted when previously mentioning La Judic in other pieces; what, then, can we now say of her in this, her original character, and certain by the part in which her great abilities have most scope! She was inimitable, incomparable, superb! Rapturously encored in most of her chansonnettes, she was perhaps at her very best in the military song and in the couplets where she compares her ball dress with her old school-girl costume, "ce qu'alors je montrais, je cache; ce que je cachais, je montre." Her acting in the scene of intoxication was delicious, and, whilst abounding in touches of the utmost drollery, never exceeded the bounds of prudence.

An almost equal triumph was earned by Huguenet in the dual roles of the butterfly father and the sedate son; the characters were both well marked and clearly contradistinguished, his rapid changes of costume and make-up being a clever 'tour-de-force'. Deroy put in a clever piece of work as Bodin-Bridet, allotted on the programme to Duquesne, and gave a most able representation of the amorous savant. Coquelin jun. was satisfactery, if scarcely as light as he should have been, as the Prince de Chypre. The caste was completed by Mesdames Lender, Barety, Kerwich, Pic and Sergine, who, with rare artistic self-negation, undertook very small parts. They had little to do beyond looking bewitching; and we scarcely knew whether to admire them more in their Chic shooting costume than when appareled in supper dress; suffice it to say that they amply fulfilled their mission.

To-night, Coquelin appears in "Chamillac".

RACING NOTES AND ANTICIPATIONS.

The holiday programme for to day's meeting at Palermo is not particularly entrancing, consisting, as it does, of three two-year-old events, one handicap and a maiden three-year old race. Practically, therefore, it will be seen that the youngsters have the course pretty well to themselves. In the Premio Luro, we may reasonably expect to see a better class of two-year-old, and possibly some of the best of the year may make their debut; this race holds forth almost the sole glimmer of interest for the day, the other events consisting of youngsters who have already made frequent appearances and who, with few exceptions, will fail to make any name for themselves.

Our selections are as follows:—

Premio Perseverancia...	La Patria
„ Luro.....	Ec. Montemar
„ Rivalidad.....	Ec. San Martin
„ Combate.....	Categoria
„ Estimulo.....	Pavon

Sainfoin won the Derby yesterday.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There was another shinplaster earthquake yesterday, the worst yet. Senator del Valle is the man of the day. To-morrow the public expect to hear from him again in the Senate. Meanwhile, there was a field-day in the House of Deputies yesterday, and the Government's important Message and explanations will be found in the report of the debate in another column. Minister Uriburu, in a lengthy speech, refuted all the gross exaggerations of Senator del Valle. The whole country will applaud the Minister's utterances and accept his assurances as those of a Finance Minister who not only is well able to perform the task entrusted to him but has a sincerity and honesty of purpose that breathes through every word of his superb speech before the Deputies.

The Minister of War is more popular than ever in the army now. With a stroke of his pen he has abolished all the gold lace, epaulettes etc., and devised a new grey blue uniform for all branches of the service. The saving will be enormous, and part of it will be devoted to feeding the rank and file better.

General Mitre received a most enthusiastic reception on landing at Montevideo yesterday. Music, flags, flowers and cheers met him on the mole and accompanied him to the Continental Hotel. He will remain in Genoa for some time after his arrival in Europe.

An evening colleague promises to publish in a few days a document that will cause no end of a sensation. This is the year of sensations. Every morning the public nerves receive a shock of some kind.

An esteemed morning colleague calls for another issue of minor shinplasters of from five to fifty cents, as a good deal of the six millions in small change allowed by law has gone to the dogs, and the rest is certainly not enough for the city, much less the whole Republic. This looks like a fact, and, no doubt, had its influence on that far-seeing financier, Governor Dulce, of Catamarca.

The good people of that most ancient of camp towns, Ranchos, have been struck with the "delirio de la grandeza" of the age, and want to change its name so radically that even its oldest and dearest friends will not know it. Ranchos! It has a most plebeian sound. The new name they propose is "General Tom Guido," (why not "Guido" simply?) that of the distinguished Independence warrior.

We would direct the attention of all members of the English Literary Society to the advertisement in another column, of the scheme of a prize essay on the subject of "English influence in the Argentine Republic" the full rules respecting which are posted in the Society's Rooms. The subject is excellent, the prizes will be substantial, and the Committee of adjudication consisting of the president and vice-president, Mr. H. Marral, Professor A. Pressinger and Dr. Scheaver is a competent one, and one whose decision will be received with confidence and respect by all competitors. This is an excellent and new departure, and should produce not only a number of good papers, but result in good to the Society. We already hear of six or eight competitors who are at work studying up and by midnight oil, each fully determined to win. One of the rules is that the successful Essayists will have to read their productions before the members of the society. A bumper can be depended on for that night we can promise. The happy idea of the prize essay was suggested by the esteemed Vice-President of the Society, Mr. F. Algernon Williams.

We feel much pleasure in welcoming Mr Cheevers MacDonnell from Asuncion, and are glad to see him in the best of health. He reports things very quiet in Paraguay just now, and the land spurt a thing of the past.

The Passionist Fathers will commence a Mission on Sunday next in Mr Allen's chapel, Chacabuco, and will conclude it on the following Sunday. On Saturday 14th a Father will attend at Belgrano, and the following day will preach in English in the parish church at 4 p.m. On Sunday 22nd a Mission will be commenced in the San Marcos church on Mr Thomas Dugan's estancia.

In reference to Mr. Wallace's successful action at law against the Entre-Rios Government to recover possession of his island, we learn that Mr. Hudtwalcker was the "procurador" in the case, which he won for his client with costs. He is now engaged on the second action we referred to, to recover the value of all the live stock on the island, which was made away with, and also heavy damages for the loss and inconvenience caused to his principal by the illegal acts of the Entre Rios authorities. No doubt, he will be as successful in this second case as in the first.

The new Minister of Foreign Affairs will be here on the 17th. Won't H. E. open his eyes wide when he gets at the "true inwardness" of all the shinplaster muddle? Whatever the scine fisherman makes out of his profession is not profit.

The big smuggle discovered in the Montevidean Custom House turns out to be of the best Havannah cigars. The tide-waitor who pounced on them is, we believe, entitled to keep them, so he will have the best of smoking for a good part of the rest of his life.

The news from Parana is that the editor of the Constitucion had to decamp by night in a boat to Santa Fe, to escape the claws of the law. What the head and front of his offending may be we cannot say, but will lay odds that politics have something to say to it.

Aida was a success at the Opera House on Tuesday evening. The ladies had the honors of the night, Mesdames Leonardi and Colonesse rousing the audience to repeated bursts of enthusiastic applause. Rigoletto again to-night. It is a pity that such a splendid company did not come here in the days of boom, instead of the present squeezing times.

An exchange tells the following amusing story:—"An startling announcement was made to the Queen of Denmark during her visit to the Danish colony of Iceland, where the good old bishop exerted himself to the utmost to show her everything that was worth seeing. The Queen paid many compliments to her host, and having learned that he was a family man, graciously enquired how many children he had, and was told 200. "Two hundred," cried the Queen, astounded, "how can you possibly maintain such a number?" "Easily enough, please your Majesty, replied the hyperborean prelate, with a cheerful smile, "In the summer I turn them out to graze, and when winter comes I kill and eat them." Now, it happened that the Danish word for "children" was almost identical in sound with the Iceland word for "sheep," so that the worthy bishop—whose knowledge of the Danish was not so complete as it might have been—understood Her Majesty to ask how many sheep he owned, and promptly answered "Two hundred."

We have already said all we have to say (except to express our hope that there will be no smashed shins) about the football matches at Hurlingham and Palermo today. The latest news in this line from Montevideo is:—"In very pleasant weather a football match between sides captained by Messrs. Scoones and Jefferies respectively took place on Sunday last. After a fast but somewhat scrambling game, in which anything like combination was absent, Scoone's side obtained a victory by three goals to two. The forwards on the losing side, owing to the weakness of the opposing backs, had innumerable chances at goal, but their shooting was very erratic. For the winning side the goals were obtained by Poole (2) and Bowles, and for the losing team by Carlisle

Estos lotes son parte del Establecimiento El Hucal que fueron comprados por el Sr. Antonino Cambaceres.

El Miercoles, 18 de Junio

En nuestra casa Alsina 482.
Remataremos por orden terminante de su dueno, siempre que exceda de la infima base arriba indicada, el campo compuesto de 60,000 hectareas.
La venta se hará por lotes de 10,000 hectareas o sean 4 leguas kilometricas.
En cuanto a la bondad de los campos podemos asegurar que son excelentes y de lo mejor de todo la Pampa Central; fueron elejidos por el finado Señor Don Antonio Cambaceres, que era competentisimo en la materia. Para mejor inteligencia de los interesados, podemos ofrecerles un informe municioso de cada lote, que obra en nuestra poder.
Su ubicacion tan proxima á Bahia Blanca, puerto importantisimo, es una ventaja que no debe perderse de vista.
El Ferro carril que actualmente se construye y que unira aquel puerto con Villa Mercedes, San Luis, cruzará estos campos y una estacion en los mismos es casi segura.
Tomando en consideracion todas estas ventajas, creemos que la base de 3 pesos mln por hectarea es sumamente bajo.

The Custom House receipts to-day were 37,000 dol.

A decree was issued to-day from the Finance office, arranging the tariff on goods which come through the La Plata port for Buenos Ayres.

The South Dock company having already spent more on materials and work done than would cover their guarantee,the Government has given orders that it be handed back to them. The deposit was $100,000 in National Cedulas.

The President of the Riachuelo Works has laid before the E. P two important modifications in the plans for the Mole on the South side. The change to be made is between the "barracas" Peña and Berisso and will increase the area of land to be expropriated by 1752 square metres or 2,828 on the original plans. It will also give more scope for the entry and departure, loading and unloading of vessels.

The sub-prefect of Bella Vista informs the Prefect of Marine that owing to the shifting of the bed of the river between that port and Empedrado the channel is now towards the Chaco coast at the point known as Paso del Gato, where there are 13½ feet of water.

Most important telegrams were received from London to-day announcing that all Argentine values including Cedulas are up and most buoyant. This caused a great demand for Cedulas at the second hour and put P up to 72.20. The other stocks remained more or less the same and gold closed a trifle weaker at 235½.

A new trade is springing up here;hitherto, we have been importing horses, we are now exporting them. Messrs E and V Casares are to-day sending a batch of 100 mestizos to England, under the charge of Mr D Kingsland. The result of this new departure will be eagerly looked for.

The Previsora Company has asked Government to approve some changes in its statutes.

Mitre & Co. have presented to Government a project for a telegraph line from this city to Rosario and Cordoba.

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

This company is prepared to supply the Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machines, with their accessories, in any quantities. They are now coming into general use in Australia, where, during the past season upwards of 7,000,000 of sheep have been shorn by them; and it is confidently expected that over 20,000,000 will be shorn by them in that country this year. The following are some of their proved advantages over the ordinary shears:—

Estimated at per sheep per clip,

(1) Increase in quantity and value of wool (See testimonials).... 11d.
(2) Increased value of pelts owing to total absence of cuts..... 1
(3) Saving of 1 per cent, usual allowance for deaths resulting from cuts and stabs 2½
(4) Saving of labor and time, as the work can be performed in half the time usually occupied with the old style of shearing.... 1½
Total per clip per sheep..... 16d.
(5) Total absence of suffering to the sheep.

These economies add enormously to the income of the Australian wool-growers, and are applicable relatively to sheep-farmers everywhere.

The Wolseley machines may be seen in actual work at the Agricultural Rural Exhibition at Palermo.

For further particulars apply to the agents, Messrs. Agar, Cross & Co., Calle Defensa 124 & 126, Buenos Ayres, where certificates and testimonials can be seen.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.
